

Nathan Limjoco Bio

Nathan Limjoco is an Experience Executive with an extensive background in Business Technology Consulting Services focused on the Hitech and Manufacturing Industries.

Nathan is the youngest of two boys born in Chicago, Ill. At the age of 6, his parents relocated the family to Santa Barbara, CA where he spent his early childhood and teen-age years growing up in this (at that time) small community.

After graduating high school, Nathan attended Santa Barbara City College, then transferred to San Diego State University where he earned his BA in Public Administration. He was an avid athlete, playing both football and baseball, and baseball in College.

Nathan has lived in a few areas of San Diego since graduating, and now resides in San Marcos, CA with his wife Shannon, and his two boys Nathaniel and Nikolasas. He currently works for DXC Technology (IT System Integrator) which allows him to travel extensively in the US and abroad.

In his spare time, he enjoys golf, skiing, camping and riding motorcycles with his family. Nathan has also earned his 4th Degree Blackbelt and is a Certified Instructor in Taekwondo.
